

Walpole Old Chapel Annual Newsletter 2015

The chapel is in the care of Historic Chapels Trust (registered charity number 1017321)

I must begin with an apology; this newsletter will not be up to the standard that you have come to expect. To our great sadness Linda Holmes died on the 31st of January, as you read this the lack of her design and editing skills will be obvious to you all. Her memorial will take place on Thursday the 18th of February at 11.00 a.m. in the chapel. This latest death adds to that of two other long-term committed friends to Walpole Old Chapel this last year, Heather Burroughes in October and that of David Holmes just after we went to print last year. I can't begin to tell you how much they are missed.

Last season was the best ever, but the effort involved was frankly expecting an awful lot of us. We are aware that new blood is desperately needed, not simply to replace those we have so very sadly lost, but also those of us (myself included) who are frankly getting a bit past it and are looking forward to taking a slightly less involved role in looking after the lovely old chapel.

As I said the 2014 season was the best ever, both in attendances and consequently in income, which is very important as this summer a repair programme will begin following the regular architectural survey undertaken last year. This work can take place largely thanks to your generosity and support over the years.

Ronald Blythe spoke at our annual service about John Bunyan's Bedfordshire, getting us publicity in the Church Times. The retrospective exhibition of the work of the late Jack Penton over the Heritage Open Days was certainly a highlight and our thanks go to the family and friends who lent work and especially to Tim and Ann Penton who donated one of Jack's Venetian watercolours for sale in aid of the repair work. Another excitement was the publication of a new book by David Gentleman entitled 'In the Country' based locally. It contains a loving appreciation of the building and two delightful paintings, one of which he has given to us along with a signed copy of the book. I then found the grave, and consequently the story of a local man, James Baldry Saunders a World War 1 conscientious objector, who is referred to in David Butler's book 'Objection Overruled' and whose life we remembered at the Songs of Praise. However the Christmas Carols & Readings broke all records and certainly raised the roof with a capacity congregation.

This coming season we have fewer events planned, the reasons being that there will be builders at work during the summer and as a small committee we feel the need to take a semi-sabbatical to see where we go from here. If you or anybody you know has any time or skills to offer we would be more than grateful to hear from you.

The normal Saturday afternoon openings from 2.00 to 4.30 begin on the 2nd of May (but please bear in mind we have a wedding booked for that day) until Saturday the 26th of September.
